Need For More Water At South Bay Causes Thought Among Councilmen

South Bay Councilmen Thursday mulled the problem of bringing a better and bigger supply of water to their city and although no definite action was taken, they generally agreed to look into the problem of either increasing their water supply from Belle Glade or building their own water treatment plant.

Since last year's public meeting when State Senator F. O. Dickinson and engineers met to say a plant might cost $475,000 for the city, no definite action has been planned.

South Bay officials had not been officially apprised of Lake Harbor's intended action to get water; however, they were basing their intentions on supplying Bean City and Lake Harbor in addition to making destruction of homes more practicable in their city to attract paying customers to pay for any indebtedness concerning the water plant.

The controversial zoning map received no action in the absence of City Attorney Elmer Jones who would have presented the ordinances to adopt the code. In other action the council heard that their legislative bills had become law and that the new system group qualification for councilmen with the majority clause for councilmen and the police chief would be in effect at the next election.

Ordered a look into plans for a picnic area near the pump station on North River Canal.

Learned that Hunnicutt & Associates had started their revaluation of property in the city, and that several parcels of land had been discovered that had not been on the tax roll.

Agreed to have Florida Power & Light Co. install poles on the island-way of the US 27-SR 80 intersection.

Agreed to charge full price for occupational licenses issued. The action was set when it was learned that persons were not applying for licenses when they should.

Approved a building permit in the amount of $5,000 for Jimmie Douglas on S. E. Ave C in Goodbeard's subdivision.

Three Are Killed As Auto Crashes Into Porch Steps

Graveside rites for two small children who were fatally injured in an automobile crash went out of control near a Belle Glade apartment house Saturday when a car crashed into the porch steps of a house at 1760 South 10th St. with Father Leo Rodriquez, Clewiston, officiating.

List rites for a woman who was killed in the accident were expected to be announced this week by Williams-Wentworth Funeral Home.

The children, Adelaide Rodriguez, 10, and Margie Rodriguez, 10, were killed on arrival at Belle Glade Municipal Hospital late Saturday evening. Another woman, Amelia Torres Ramon, about 60, was killed instantly when an automobile, driven by her husband, Juan Lugo Ramon, went out of control and scraped the front porch of a house at 1760 South 10th St. the Sheriff's Dept. reported.

Deputy Sheriff Bobby Newman said the driver was sitting on the front steps of the apartment and the two children, daughters of Adelaide and Antonio Rodriguez, were playing nearby. Their father was seated in a chair at the corner of the building.

Ramos got into the car, which was parked parallel to the building and drove out, making a 90 degree left turn west. The two children were knocked under the honk of the car. The body was dragged 42 feet.

Roberts Outlines Legislative Bills Affecting Glades

Creation of a small claims court in Belle Glade through a bill by the state legislature was perhaps the most important of all bills affecting the area, State Representative Emmett S. Roberts said in commenting on the action of that body when he returned to the Glades this week.

Roberts said some $9 bills were introduced which applied to Palm Beach County including 12 minor charter changes for Belle Glade, a change in the election regulations at South Bay as well as a town manager referendum bill for Pahokee and that city's annexation bill.

Other legislation affecting the Glades was the two-member increase to seven members of the Belle Glade hospital board. Also, Senate Bill 522 will allow unincorporated municipalities to form tax districts for water and sewage purposes. This bill will particularly help Lake Harbor which community's effort to get piped water.

Judge F. A. Currie, the county's small claims judge, will hold court in the Glades Office Building at least once each month beginning Oct. 1 and more often if needed, Roberts said.

Sweet corn and celery growers will be able to get together on marketing agreements and the sale and shipment of corn and celery will be regulated under bills passed by the legislature. Another bill will allow counties to work with the Florida Development Commission in the promotion and advertising of agricultural commodities.

Under the legislative council a study committee will make a report for the next legislative session in 1961 on agricultural practices. This action substitutes procedure which would have been included in H. B. 710, if that bill had passed. It failed to get Senate approval after the

City May Bring Suit Over Street Repair Settlement

Belle Glade Commissioners Wednesday voted to accept the city manager's recommendation and authorize the city attorney to take necessary legal action against the property parties in connection with the repair of certain city streets torn up by the sewer line contractor.

Manager C. B. Talmadge told jurors representing Inter-County Const. Co. had agreed to report on the matter to the city by June 1 and had not done so. The city seeks the repair of the streets past the allowable limits of the contract.

The council table for study with the engineers an increase in cost of the main lift station in the amount of $2,465. When the council ordered the relocation of the station from an original site south of the present site, there wasn't a cost increase, they thought.

The councilmen heard a progress report then authorized payment a bill from the engineers for $1,745.53 but reserved of another for $1,533.63 for S. W. Ave. B services.

In other action the council authorized the juggling of funds to allow $350 to rent highway signs surrounding the location of Belle Glade as urged by the Chamber of Commerce.

Operation Big Splash
Attendance Around 100 Each Day
For City Pool's Swimming Classes

Average daily attendance at swimming classes for children four to six years of age at Belle Glade Municipal Swimming Pool has been 100 since the classes began last week according to Tom Stewart, swimming pool operator.

Youngsters have been divided into group of 20 to 45 students and already ten to 12 from each group has started to swim after starting from scratch.

Operation Big Splash, as the classes have been dubbed, has been working well with a crew of volunteer assistants and supervision from Beaver.

Interested persons may enroll their children in the classes 8:10-10:30 Monday through Friday. Only charge is the admission to the pool, Stewart reminded.

Primarily, the classes work something like this:
When a child comes to the class without the use of the water, he or she goes through a familiarization exercise with his hands, usually the blowing of bubbles with the head under or partially under water.

After the next step, holding the swimmer, and the tot become a child learns to open its eyes under water. Stewart says if they can't do this when they're going, they'll be wasting motion to Tom Stewart, swimming pool operator.

Kicking and blowing bubbles at the same time usually comes next with simple training of "dog paddling" or a simple overhand stroke. This is followed by actual swimming. In most cases, a half-dozen strokes.

Familiarization with the deep end of the pool is the next step. Stewart says he is installing floats for Randolph Livingston, commander, and Mrs. Kathryn Swain, president, of the Belle Glade CASH, money given to use to purchase a full measure of council services.

Lang Trial Altruism Comes To Its End

The trial of Eugene Lang, allegedly the operator of The Ditch gambling deal, took a surprise turn this week when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of permitting others to gamble. He was arrested last fall in a raid on the subdivision on SR 80.

Lang's plea ended what authorities supposed would be a long trial. Criminal Court Judge E. G. Newell fined Lang $5,000, of which $2,000 must be paid immediately and the rest in over $1,000 quarterly payments. Lang was also put on three years probation, and the judge ordered him to stop gambling.

Seven other charges of gambling and a charge of selling liquor without a license were dropped by the state.

BG Cards Notch 11th Win

The Belle Glade Cardinals are proving again this year that they're one of the top-notch Negro baseball teams in South Florida as they posted their 11th win without defeat last Sunday when they downed Ocala 15-10.

In a game interrupted occasionally by rain Alfonso Walker lost much of his control since most of the baseballs used were wet.

Walker was in good shape the week before when Cards stopped Pahokee 4-1. He was relieved in the sixth inning after pitching hitless ball by Ollice Davis who allowed the one run.

Earlier the week before Walker won 13-0 with a no hitter against Melbourne. Ironically, Walker has received credit for all 11 of the games even though he's been relieved on the mound at various points in some of the games.

Man Charged In Fight With Police Officer

Formal charges have been placed against Charles Fortier, 28-year-old Negro of Belle Glade, after he terrorized a bar on S. W. Ave B Place June 2, Belle Glade police who handled the case turned the man over to the Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff's Dept. officers stopped him at 20-Mile Bend shortly after the fight. The Glades office of the Sheriff's Dept. reported that Corbett has been lodged in the county jail charged with resisting arrest by violence to an officer, assault to commit second degree murder and disturbing the peace.

Collins was treated and released from Belle Glade Memorial Hospital.
